“I began my Tupperware business initially because I wanted to improve my kitchen. Before my business journey started, I attended a Tupperware Party and saw first hand the savings Tupperware® products would give me, and I was wowed by the consultant's organized cupboards. There was no question that I wanted to start my own business, and if I could show others what I was loving, it seemed like a win-win!

After 11 years, my favorite thing is still connecting with other people in a Tupperware® Party, either in their own kitchens or through their screens, to teach them how Tupperware® brand products can help make our busy lives a little easier. I love that our kitchens are a place that everyone can find common ground; if you appreciate saving time and money, and love investing quality time with family and friends over food, then Tupperware has products you'll love.

I love the freedom and flexibility of scheduling my own hours and running Tupperware parties in a variety of ways. I am so grateful to be able to use my freedom, flexibility, and sales income to help other team members work to prioritize their quality of life. The most fulfilling aspect of success is being able to share those opportunities with others and cheer them on as they reach their own goals.

I love to focus on providing people with solutions; whether that's helping someone make their meal time more efficient, making the most of their food budget, or opening a door for a team member to supplement their household income. I love sharing the Tupperware® business opportunity with people who have a willingness to work hard, learn and adapt, and seeing what success they achieve!
